HONGKONG, JANCARY 8th, 1878.

It is extremely satisfactory that something Inspector Batten, who has always been a valuhas at last been done with reference to lighting the approaches to the harbour. From the discussion of the subject, which took place at the Legislative Council on Monday, there now appears to be every probability that active steps will, before long, be taken, and there can be no doubt that so soon as this is the case, the matter will be adjusted. It seems somewhat strange that the members have still continued under the impression judge presides, to settle their accounts in pugil- see Mr. Overbeck and get him to pay the bill. not know how the police could have seen cook- ment. We notice with pleasure that Mr. Mitchell has expressed his intention of punishing chaircoolies for obstructing the roads when touting for farce. There is certainly no greater nuisance in the Colony, and it may be hoped the case reported to-day will do something towards abating it. He proposes that the case should be noticed in the Chinese Government Gazette, but probably a better plan would be the issue of a notification from the Registrar-General's office, calling attention to it.

We hear that Inspector Batten has been over and made a report of the matter to the authority from his principal. able and energetic servant to the Colony. It | beck. is no doubt needless, after the revelations the recent application for rendition, to point out that statements coming from a smul mandarin, anxious to clear bimself of responsibility, ought to be received with much caution.

The art of agreequest of Mr. Thomas, who appeared for the able conversation, besides being a channel for plaintiff, began to make a translation, but as wisdom to flow from one mind to another, renthis appeared likely to take some time, the ders a man pleasing. SUMMER_HEATS. In connexion with the extraordinary heat | that the Duke of Weimar has already promised which has prevailed this year over a large area his assistance, and that he has told Dr. Schweinof the earth's surface—the United Kingdom fort that he considered it desirable that several constituting almost the only exception—the expeditions should start simultaneously from Scientific American has recently collected some interesting facts relative to the extreme summer temperature of different parts of the world. Probably the hottest country is one which most people would imagine to possess a moderately cool and pleasant temperature—namely, Thibet. Constituting, as it does, a vast and elevated plateau of table land, and situated between the 30th and 38th parallels of north latitude, one $620 to $625; Old Benares, $580 to $585; might have thought that its inhabitants must Malwa, $560 cash. have been more comfortable in summer than the nutives of the steaming plains of Bengalor of the sun-baked deserts of Northern Africa. On the contrary, the unfortunate Thibetane suffer from an extreme summer temperature, which is stated to rise to the almost incredible heat of 150 deg. in the shade. It is not known by what devices the natives escape the effects of this frightful temperature. Their condition must be greatly aggravated by the fact that the night temperature, even in the hottest seasons, often sinks as low as the freezing point. In Senegal and in the West Indian Island of Guadeloupe, the summer temperature often reaches 130 deg. This is, perhaps, as high a temperature as any Europeans are habitually exposed to, both regions being commonly visited for commercial purposes, and the latter being largely inhabited by white men. In Persia the temperature rises to 125 deg., and appears to be the cause of most destructive epidemics. At Calcutta and throughout the delta of the Ganges the mercury rises to 120 deg., and a similar temperature is attained in Central America. In the jungles of Atglianistan, in the deserts of Africa, and along the Abyssinian coast, the maximum temperature is 110 deg.—a temperature not absolutely fatal to the existence of white men, but almost completely destructive of all healthy activity. It is a corious circumstance that the same high temperature is reached in some of the inland valleys of California, though the average of the State is much lower than this. . In Cape Colony, the African diamond diggings, and in parts of the territory of Utah, the midsummer heat is 105 deg. Next comes Greece, with 104 deg., and the deserts of Arabia, with 103 deg. Next to Arabia-extraordinary as it may appear—comes Montreal with a summer heat of 103 deg. The State of New York follows with 102 deg., but the other northern States do not exceed 98 deg.; Spain, Lower India, China, Jamaica, and the Southern States of the Union average 100 deg.; Mauritius registers 96 deg.; and Sierra Leone in Africa-so terribly fatal to Europeahs-has not a higher summer temperature than 94 deg. For France, Denmark, and Belgium, at St. Petersburg in Russia, at Shanghui in China, in Burmah, the Shadwich Islands, Buenos Ayres, and Trinidad, the everage is stated as 90 deg. In Nova Scotia and in the Azores the maximum is 87 deg. Great Britain, Siam, and Peru do not exceed 85 deg. : while Portugal, Pekin in Obina, and Natal in South Africa have an extreme temperature of | 80 deg. In Siberia the summer heat is as comparatively high as 77 deg., whereas in-Western and Southern Australia, as in part of Scotland, it is only 55 deg. THE THREE LITTLE CHAIRS. They sat by the bright wood fire, The gray-baired dame and the aged sire. Drowning of days gone by ; The tear drops fall on each wrinkled check, They both had thoughts they could not speak. And each heart uttered a sigh-For their sad and tearful eyes described Three little chairs placed aids by side Against the sitting-room wall; Old fashioned enough as there they stood, Their seats of thag and their frames of wood With their backs so straight and tall.

Then the sire shook his silvery head, And with trembling voice he gently said : "Mother, these empty chairs! They bring us such sad, and thoughts to-night, We'll put them forever out of sight; In the small, dark room up etairs: But she answered : " Futher, no, not yet, For I look at them and I forget That the children are awny: The boys come back, and our Mary, too, With her apron on, of checkered blue, and sits there every day. "Rohnny still whittles a ship's tall masts, And Willie his lenden bullet casts While Mary her patchwork sews; At evening the three childish prayers Go up to God from these little chairs, So softly that no one knows.

" Johnny comes back from the billow deep, Willie wasca from the battle-field sleep, To say good night to me; Mary's a wife and mother to more, But a tired child whose playtime is o'er, And comes to rest at my knee.

"So let them stand there, though empty nov And every time when alone we bow At the Father's throne to pray,... We'll ask to meet the children above, In our Saviour's home of rest and love, Where no child goeth away."
